

KnowledgeSync 2000 Wireless Communications

- Would your on-the-road salesreps like to receive real-time alerts about critical activities for their clients and prospects?
- Would your mobile service technicians like to be notified about client emergencies or delays to needed parts?
- Would your staff like to rely on their mobile phones or PDAs to keep updated about pending opportunities and service calls?
- Would your executives like to continue to receive key business reports even when they're on the road?

KnowledgeSync 2000 for Wireless Alert Messaging is the revolutionary solution that keeps remote and mobile employees every bit as up-to-date on critical business activities as their office-bound counterparts.

Whether it's to empower mobile salesreps with timely alerts about critical customer activities, to notify field-based service technicians about alterations to planned repair visits, or to support executives with key corporate data regardless of their location, KnowledgeSync 2000 ensures that "out of the office" doesn't mean "out of touch."
